

My Little Pony: Equestria Girls

403-101 - Outline

"The Last Drop"

9/8/17

Written by: Whitney Ralls

SETUP

EXT. OUTDOOR STAGE - DAY

DJ PON-3 spins a fresh beat. Sunset Shimmer does the robot, Applejack fist pumps like she's spinning a lasso, and Rarity twirls her shawl with Stevie-Nicks level drama. Everyone's having a great time—they've been waiting for DJ Pon-3 to premiere her summer banger and so far it's awesome! Super cool visuals play on DJ PON-3's STAGE SCREEN. The beat is building, building, building to a crescendo and the girls are freaking out. This is the coolest song ever and the beat's about to drop! What's it gonna be?! On Sunset Shimmer, Applejack, and Rarity each anticipating the awesome reveal—but it doesn't come. DJ PON-3 glances side to side, nervous. The crowd waits in anticipation, including our girls. DJ-PON3 shrugs. Our girls yell: "Don't you have an ending?" After a moment, she shakes her head no. The crowd begins to <BOOOO>!!! Sunset, AJ, and Rarity exchange a glance—they have some ideas! DJ-PON3 nods emphatically, gesturing them on stage... "Who... me?" They say at the same time, as Three clear choices appear (linking to their respective endings).

A: SUNSET SHIMMER

B: APPLEJACK

C: RARITY

NOTE: These endings will start in the reality of the festival, before blending into a short music-video-type sequence inspired by the character...*

ENDING A: SUNSET SHIMMER

EXT. OUTDOOR STAGE - DAY

Sunset Shimmer climbs on stage and pulls out her phone, loading up an 8-bit-inspired video game. PRESS START? DJ-PON3 nods—heck, yes. As Sunset touches the screen, the blitzed out 8-bit beat drops. ZOOM IN to the stage's screen: a matrix-esque web of colors spreads out in time with the beat. Suddenly Sunset Shimmer materializes, running through a strobing neon landscape, like in one of her videogames. She jumps over obstacles, dodges projectiles, then stops short: she has to jump across to a platform! CLOSE ON: DJ PON-3's fingers, expertly keying her backlit DJ mixing pad. As the colors flash, they flash in Sunset's computer world, producing Rarity and AJ. Together, they "beat" the final level, ending with a shimmering sonic finale—lights flashing. ZOOM OUT to Sunset and the girls—the lights flashing are the crowd taking pictures. Exhausted from dancing, the girls fall in a pile. That was awesome! Sunset snaps a picture with a final BLIP-BLIP-BLIP!

ENDING B: APPLEJACK

EXT. OUTDOOR STAGE - DAY

Applejack swishes her hat in the air lets out a holler: “Here’s a beet straight off the farm! Drop it!” ...as the beet drops—literally, on the stage’s screen, a HUGE BEET drops (In the audience, Pinkie Pie cheers “Puns!”), and then beets, apples, carrots, watermelons kaleidoscope out as the electro-country hook comes in. Fiddles and washboards blend with synth waves and bass. The girls encircle AJ as she dances. She signals for them to fall in line leads them in a good old line dance. The beat’s going strong—then it cuts out, suspended. REVEAL Big Mac on stage with DJ PON-3. He leans in to the microphone to deliver his signature “Yup.” She samples it, remixing his catchphrase into the beat. The girls nod in unison and strike a pose: Yup! The crowd CHEERS – huge success!

ENDING C: RARITY

EXT. OUTDOOR STAGE - DAY

Applejack and Sunset Shimmer eye Rarity, not totally sure what could she possibly have planned for a dance song. Rarity stands stone still, dramatic. Then—she throws her shawl in the air. As it falls, a DUBSTEP BEAT drops, dark and epic. The stage’s screen shows spacey star-twinkling visuals. Rarity dances HARD, shawl-twirling intensely to the stuttering rhythm. Rarity twirls among the stars with the shawl. She whips her hair back and forth as the beat wub-wub-wub-wubs. The image pinches and warps. The song has finished. Rarity is still whipping her hair back and forth. Sunset and Applejack watch in awe. Rarity notices. She clears her throat, blasé, and collects herself, fixing her hair.