The Seeds of Chaos

With the help of their 5 new friends, Twilight Sparkle and Spike have just finished moving all of their stuff into the Golden Oak Library when strange, unexplainable things start to happen in Ponyville. Weird weather patterns develop that Rainbow Dash is unable to stop. Weird mutant plants spring up that Applejack is unable to prune. And weird woodland creatures come out of the Ever Free Forest that Fluttershy is unable to charm.

Princess Celestia provides the explanation when she summons the six ponies to Canterlot. DISCORD, the mischievous spirit of chaos, has been awakened by the activation of the Elements of Harmony and is responsible for the seemingly random maladies afflicting Ponyville and all of Equestria. Our six heroes need to take the stones and unite once more in order to defeat Discord. But when the Princess goes to retrieve them she finds that the stones are missing! Discord appears before them and lets them know that he has hidden the Elements of Harmony. The playful apparition provides the Ponies with puzzles and clues that will reveal the location of the stones. But while they quest for the Elements of Harmony, Discord is busy sowing discord (of course) among the six friends. When they finally find the stones, will they still be able to use them if they are all at each other's throats?
