FLUTTERSHY AND TWILIGHT MAP EPISODE

Premise by Meghan McCarthy

When the map calls Fluttershy and Princess Twilight to the Smokey Mountains, they immediately pick up on what problem they are meant to solve. Two families living on opposite mountaintops are in an all-out feud. It's the pony version of the Hatfields and McCoys! Fluttershy and Twilight, flying back and forth between the two mountaintops, try to get to the bottom of what has happened to drive the two families apart, but both sides will only tell them that the other family "Knows what they done."

The truth is that neither side can remember what started the argument; they just know they are plum furious with one another. It takes all of Twilight's magic to keep them from doing further damage to one another's homesteads, not to mention the once pristine woods and creek that have fallen victim to their feud-driven shenanigans.

Luckily there are other inhabitants of the Smokey Mountains who do remember why the two sides are fighting, and are thrilled to finally find somepony they can talk to about it. The woodland creatures approach Fluttershy and reveal that the source of the feud was a falling out between its two founders. Both wanted to preserve the natural beauty of the mountains and care for the animals that lived there, but had different ideas of how to go about it. Unable to resolve their differences, they split up into two camps and their respective families have been fighting ever since, gradually destroying the very land they'd originally wanted to protect.

Now armed with the knowledge of what went wrong, Princess Twilight and Fluttershy convince the heads of both families to "be the bigger pony" and be the first to step up and make things right. Both sides decide to do so and nearly start an entirely new feud over which side is really the "bigger pony". Luckily, Princess Twilight is able to use her magic to stop them before things get out of hoof. The families are ultimately won over by Fluttershy who gathers the local critters together and uses her talents to give them a voice. The two families finally realize the damage they've done and vow to work together to make things right for the animals with whom they share the land.
