

LORD HATER

Upon first meeting him, Lord Hater fulfills every expectation one would have of the universe's most loathsome intergalactic overlord bent on total domination. Large, imposing and powerful. Terrifying, heartless and cruel. He wields a deep booming voice that inspires fear and terror in the souls of all who hear it. However, and quite surprisingly, should anyone manage to get under his non-existent skin, they will find the snarky, entitled heart of an immature, tantrum-throwing teenager--- but with the same deep booming voice. As it turns out, Hater's bid to take over the galaxy is fueled by a deep emotional need to feel important. Perhaps his mother didn't love him enough. Perhaps he had an older brother who was a bully. Perhaps in high school the jocks picked on him and the cheerleaders laughed at him for being a walking skeleton--- who knows? For certainly all those big, fat, mean jerks have been destroyed by now. Lord Hater's acting will have to constantly switch between a very believable scourge of the universe to an equally believable (not mocking) overly sensitive, emo teenager.
